

After Nines Inc., unveils the Top 200 MSSPs of 2019

Kyber Security appears on the Top 200 MSSPs List, ranking No. 109.

September 19, 2019 – MSSP Alert, published by After Nines Inc., has named Kyber Security to the Top 200 MSSPs list for 2019 ranking no. 109. The list represents the top 200 managed security services providers (MSSPs) that specialize in comprehensive, outsourced cybersecurity services. These prestigious MSSPs proactively monitor, manage and mitigate cyber threats for businesses, government agencies, educational institutions and nonprofit organizations of all sizes.

“I’m proud to announce that we have earned no. 109 on the Top 200 MSSPs of the world. Amazing job to the Kyberian team and endless thanks to our clients, partners, and friends who allow us to continue this success. I couldn’t be prouder of everyone’s hard work.” Lynn Souza, CEO of Kyber Security announced on Thursday afternoon.

Kyber has shown tremendous growth in the SMB space. Their goal to protect small and medium sized organizations from cyber attacks has had a positive impact on their clients’ success. They continue to make strides in cybersecurity and will continue to grow.

Previous editions of the annual list honored 100 MSSPs. Last year, Kyber premiered on this list at no. 96. This year’s edition, at twice the size, reflects MSSP Alert’s rapidly growing readership and the world’s growing consumption of managed security services. This year’s complete list can be found at www.msspalert.com/top200.

The MSSP Alert list reveals several major trends in the managed security services provider market. The Top 5 business drivers for managed security services are talent shortages; regulatory compliance needs; the availability of cloud services; ransomware attacks; and SMB customers demanding security guidance from partners. Many MSSPs are investing in next generation business tools such as managed detection and response (MDR), SOC as a Service, and automated penetration testing.
